

Writing the Ending to a Story/Narrative

Examples from Published Stories

Note a Feeling	And they and their mother danced joyfully around the spring all day long. from "The Wolf and the Seven Little Kids"
Remember a Character	The green eyes of the children still haunt the villagers, and the mystery of their origins was never solved. from "The Green Children"
Think About the Story	In sacrificing our humble neighbor, we brought about the ruin of all. from "The Trees and the Ax"
Get the Point	From that time forth, the tortoise would carry its house on its back. Never would the tortoise be able to leave home, even if it wanted to. from "How the Tortoise Got Its Shell"

*selected from 365 Bedtime Stories